CIA Prosecution Hampered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department officials complain their probe of the CIA is being hampered by the Senate intelligence committee's refusal to turn over evidence to back up its findings of agency misdeeds.

But Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says he's convinced the panel eventually will provide its evidence dealing with U.S. involvement in assassination plots and other alleged CIA wrongdoing.

Levi told reporters Friday that the committee so far has turned over none of the material requested by the department for use in determining whether to bring federal charges against anyone involved in the plots.

But he said, "I expect that we will receive it."

The Senate committee reported Thursday that the CIA was involved in assassination plots against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba and was in-involved to varying degrees in either plotting to kill or aiding others who did kill other foreign leaders.

It has also gathered evidence, some of which it has discussed publicly, about the CIA's program of opening the mail of U.S. citizens, and a series of other allegedly illegal activities by the CIA, FBI and National Security Agency.

Some Justice Department officials complained their investigation of the CIA has been delayed and hampered by the committee's refusal to provide its evidence, despite continuing requests during the past three months.

One high-level department source said he has no reason to believe that the committee will change its position immediately as a result of having just issued its public report describing the involvement of U.S. officials in plots to kill foreign leaders.

There was no immediate response from the committee, headed by Sen.

Frank Church, D-Idaho.

But a committee spokesman said recently that members were reluctant to share their findings with the department because department officials have failed to turn over material the committee has sought.

The spokesman also said members felt that sharing evidence with prosecutors might discourage witnesses from testifying candidly before the committee, which is still continuing its investigation of other alleged CIA wrongdoing.

Levi said he is reviewing the committee's assassination report as he continues to weigh the possibility of seeking criminal indictments against those involved in the assassination plots.

Meantime, President Ford "has in mind his own plans" to prevent future U.S. involvement in plots to assassinate foreign leaders, said White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

$395 Billion Budget Eyed For Upcoming Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is studying detailed recommendations for a $395-billion budget for fiscal 1977, including spending cuts of $28 billion, a spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget says.

"The President's decision was $395 billion, and we will come in at $395 billion," the spokesman said in an interview Friday.

President Ford had said he wants $28 billion trimmed from earlier spending proposals and the OMB spokesman said Budget Director James T. Lynn now has firm recommendations on how to do it.

The budget office completed its review of spending proposals from agency and department heads on Wednesday. The spokesman said that in some cases, they made their own recommendations on cuts; in others, the budget office is making proposals. The final decision rests with the President.

Without the cuts, Ford has said 1977 spending could reach $423 billion.

From one-third to one-half of the $28 billion is expected to come through limits on income maintenance and medical care programs administered by the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Some increase in defense spending from 1976 is understood to be included in the 1977 budget proposals, although not as much as recommended by former Defense Secretary James Schlesinger.

President Ford already has begun reviewing the budget proposals with Lynn. After the presidential review will be an "appeals process" for Ford to hear complaints from dissatisfied department and agency heads who feel they have been short-changed.

The budget is scheduled to be delivered to Congress on Jan. 19, after which the Senate and House will begin their own lengthy review process. The 1977 fiscal year will begin Oct. 1, 1976.

The tentative spending figure of $395 billion is no surprise, since Ford said on Oct. 6 that should be the maximum for 1977 spending.

The budget bureau recently estimated that budget receipts during 1977, by one measure, could total $372.6 billion from taxes and other sources. With a $395-billion spending budget, that would result in a budget deficit of about $22 billion to $23 billion.

A YEAR'S DIFFERENCE — Merchants in downtown businesses saw a different picture a year ago today as an early morning fire resulted in the demolition of some of the oldest structures in the city. The old brick building on the left, which still houses The Saddle Shop, was one of the original structures after the Circle was squared. It dates back to the 1840s. And, that side of Main St. was tabbed "Whiskey Row" at the turn of the century. But, as you can see, much progress has been made in the rebuilding phase of the development. Business is going on as usual in The Saddle Shop and Brown's Office Equipment and is expected to begin soon in Pettit's Appliance and the office building between the two stores.

Rhodes, Demos To Cooperate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes and Democratic legislative leaders say they will put politics aside next month for an in depth study of the state's economic plight.

Rhodes, responding to a legislative invitation, pledged his full cooperation for the legislature's state economic conference, scheduled to begin Dec. 15.

The invitation itself stressed that the conference was not intended to provide a stage for Democratic lawmakers. The letter assured Rhodes no policy votes would be taken and no majority committee report written.

In a letter to House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe, Jr., D-89 New Boston, the governor said he has instructed his cabinet members and his staff to help legislators organizing the conference.

"The economic growth of Ohio must receive top priority with us all," Rhodes said. "The health of our economy is important to every segment of our society and must receive our constructive efforts to ensure orderly expansion."

The economic conference is scheduled to begin Dec. 15. Riffe and Senate President pro tem Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, said Friday it first will look at the United States economy and its impact on Ohio, then move into specific details on Ohio's economic problems.

The agenda is being drawn by Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, and Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, who will serve as cochairmen.

In their invitation to Rhodes, Riffe and Ocasek said the conference is not intended to formulate a state economic policy.

"The function of the conference will be to gather and catalog information regarding the strengths and weaknesses of Ohio's economy," they said.

"The purpose of such an undertaking will be to emphasize to all Ohioans the condition of Ohio's economic well-being, and to provide a wealth of facts from which policy makers can draw in the later development of economic policy for the state," they said.

The legislative chiefs stressed that the conference, though held by the legislature, would not attempt to compromise Rhodes politically.

"The conference will not vote on policy resolves," they assured the governor in the invitation. "It will not vote on recommendations to the General Assembly or to the governor, nor will it write a committee report requiring majority approval."

"The conference will, however, thoroughly portray a comprehensive picture of the structure, condition and movement of Ohio's economy."

The phrasing of the invitation appeared to allow the governor to participate while not committing him to support conclusions reached by a Democratic majority.

It also could avoid embarrassment for Rhodes over the governor's aborted four-point economic recovery package, which was defeated at the polls early this month.

Rhodes had said before the vote that it would be up to the legislature to find alternatives if his package was defeated. Riffe announced plans for the economic conference shortly after the vote was in.

Reagan Promises No Mud-Slinging

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan brought his presidential campaign to California with a promise he would never let his battle against President Ford damage or divide the Republican party.

A cheering, flag-waving crowd of 700 persons and two marching bands welcomed Reagan back to conclude on Friday a tour of crucial primary election states.

"For a while, we're back home in California, and how sweet it is," Reagan said after embracing his oldest daughter, Maureen, who led the welcoming party at the Hollywood-Burbank airport.

It was Reagan's last stop on a 5,274-mile tour that took him to New Hampshire, North Carolina, Illinois and California. On Thursday, he had formally announced his candidacy in Washington, D.C. and Miami.

New Hampshire, Florida, North Carolina and Illinois are the first four major primary states next February and March.

Reagan ended his tour with a private dinner at a Hollywood hotel with about 100 supporters and personal friends, including entertainers Bob Hope, Glenn Ford and Cary Grant. He plans no more appearances until a campaign swing beginning in Oregon on Dec. 1.

"I'll do nothing to divide or weaken our party, and say nothing that will lend comfort and aid to our Democratic opponents in the general election to come," the former California governor told rallies in each state.

"I'll say what I believe," he said. "I will not weaken or water down my beliefs for any political advantage."

Reagan did not mention Ford and says he won't during the campaign. And he made no mention of Michael Lanz Carvin, the 20-year-old Florida man arrested with a toy gun a few feet from Reagan in Miami.

But reminders of both men were everywhere.

At least 150 uniformed and plain-clothed officers were all around Reagan's homecoming rally at the Hollywood-Burbank airport, with officers in the crowd, on hangar roofs, and at all entrances.

Newsprint Price Increases Seen

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The country's major suppliers of newsprint say they expect prices to increase at least $25 a ton in the United States and $15 a ton in Canada during 1976, according to eastern news reports.

Four newsprint suppliers in British Columbia said Friday prices are likely to increase, but none indicated definite plans to raise them.

"On the basis of cost increases to the newsprint industry since the last rise in prices, and new wage hikes with which it is confronted, certainly increases of at least the levels mentioned are justified," said a spokesman for MacMillan Bloedel Ltd.

Jobless Data Shows Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Claims for unemployment benefits for the first time in Ohio remained below last year's average for November for the week ended Nov. 15, the Bureau of Employment Services said Friday.

Initial claims under state and federal programs were filed by 19,553 in mid-November compared to 23,447 claims for an average week in November 1974. Earlier this month, claims for the week ended Nov. 1 were 18,982 and for Nov. 8, 24,277 persons sought benefits.

Continuing unemployment insurance went to 126,343 for the week ended Nov. 8, compared to 131,643 the week before and 85,471 for an average period a year earlier.

Continuing claims have shown an up-and-down trend over the past two months, with the bureau predicting another rise when this week's final figures are computed.

Other federal supplemental benefits show a decrease in continuing claims, but an increase in new claims.

Seek Cash For Grants To Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Regents will ask the state Controlling Board on Monday to approve $800,000 in additional funds for the Ohio Instructional Grants Program.

Grant funds were exhausted when the number of applicants increased sharply after regents extended the deadline for those seeking aid, Chancellor James A. Norton said.

Twenty thousand students would have their financial assistance under the program cut if the Controlling Board turns down the request. The program has provided financial support for 53,383 students for the current school year. Norton said he did not know the exact amount grants would be cut.

At the regents' meeting Friday, Norton defended extending the application deadline although it resulted in a shortage of funds.

"It was a good idea since the intent of the program is to help as many students as possible," he said.

Students qualify for grant aid depending on family income ranging to $15,000 and family size. Maximum amount of the grants is $680 for students in public institutions and $1,500 in private schools.

Spanish Monarchy Returns In Form Of King Juan Carlos

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon was sworn in today as King Juan Carlos I, restoring monarchy to Spain after 44 years. He immediately pledged to be a friend of the people, a foe of privilege and a "promoter of justice."

Choking back emotion as he stood in the main chamber of parliament with foreign dignitaries on either side, including U.S. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, the 37-year-old Juan Carlos took his oath of office by placing his right hand on a Bible held by parliament President Alejandro Rodriguez de Valcarlos.

Juan Carlos swore to uphold the principles of the regime of Gen. Francisco Franco, who died Thursday at 82 after ruling Spain for 36 years.

Juan Carlos' wife, Princess Sophie of Greece, sat beside him. The couple's three children sat at their left. On their right, a crown and scepter lay symbolically on a velvet-covered stool.

The new queen wore a classic full-length dress of pink satin. Her hands, twisting a handkerchief, trembled as her husband took his oath with the words: "I swear by God and the Holy Gospel to comply with the fundamental laws of the kingdom and to loyally guard the principles that formed the national Movement," Spain's only political organization and heir to the Fascist-style Falange that helped Franco to power in 1939.

With the installation of Juan Carlos as king, his 7-year-old son Felipe became prince of Spain and heir to the throne. Dressed in a blue double-breasted suit, the boy sat quietly during the ceremony, swinging a leg from time to time.

In a 15-minute speech, loudly applauded by the chamber, the new king pledged to be the guardian of "peace, work and prosperity" and declared: "Monarchy will try at every moment to keep in closest touch with the people."

Juan Carlos brought the deputies to their feet as he promised to restore "territorial integrity" to Spain, a clear reference to the nation's claim of sovereignty over the British crown colony of Gibraltar. "The king takes over this objective with the fullest of convictions," he said.

Farm Management Becoming Tougher

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

With inflation, fluctuating prices, and higher input costs, management of farm businesses is getting tougher than ever. It takes plenty of common sense and good judgement, as well as a complete and accurate set of financial records, says John Moore, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University.

Records in themselves are not enough. You need periodic analysis of the records, comparing the current situation with what happened during the same time the year before, and with what was projected to happen.

Your County Extension Office has farm business record books that are set up primarily for a business analysis. Monthly comparisons and cash flow budgets can be made easily. A commercial account book is available for keeping the most complete records and a small, revised book (miniature of the commercial book) for smaller and less detailed farm record systems.

Also, there is a computer year-end analysis program available. "It's probably the best $25 a full-time farmer can spend," says Moore. "It really helps a farmer take a lot of guessing out of planning by giving a clearer picture of what happened the past year. I've heard some farmers say that computer analysis tells them more than they want to know about their business." These days, though, you can't know too much about the financial trends of your business, Moore stresses. The sad fact is that many times change should have been made in a business three to five years before it was finally made, because there wasn't a detailed analysis of the business.

You can get more information on the year-end analysis program from vocational agriculture teachers and Extension agents. They have input forms and will help with the input or analysis report if you have questions. The Department of Agricultural Economics at Ohio State is responsible for the computerized individual analysis program as well as the enterprise summaries.

The main reason for keeping business records is for improved business decisions that lead to more profit, Moore says. The next reason is to secure adequate credit. The third is for income tax reporting.

You need the least detailed record for tax reporting, the economist points out. The OSU books are designed specifically to help see more clearly the business progress, but they are

OSU Agriculture Enrollment Rises

COLUMBUS (AP) — The number of students and of women-enrolled in agriculture and natural resources classes at The Ohio State University showed a continued increase the first quarter, a school official said.

Austin E. Richie, assistant dean for academic affairs, said the total enrollment of undergraduate students in the programs reached 3,668, an increase of 236 over last year. Nearly one-fourth of the enrollees—24.17 percent—are women.

Enrollment at the college's Agricultural Technical Institute at Wooster also was up this fall, increasing from 469 to 600. One-fourth of the students there, 195, also were women. Last year's female enrollment was 152.

4-H

The Pickaway County 4-H Horse Clubs sponsored a carry-in supper and awards program for 4-H horse members on Saturday, November 15, at the 4-H and Grange Building. Members competed on a countywide basis at four horse shows throughout the summer in twenty-eight classes. Members receiving the most points over the summer for each class were given special awards Saturday night.

The winners were: Jeff Clyne, pony pleasure, pony showmanship 11 and under; Cindy Gearhart, pony showmanship 12 and over, pony horsemanship 12 and over; Carrie Teegardin, horse showmanship 11 and under; Patricia Stiles, western horse pleasure, horse showmanship 12-13, horse horsemanship 12-13, junior trail; Karen Holycross, horse showmanship 14; Barbara Schneider, horsemanship 16 and over, horse showmanship 16 and over; Connie Yaple, pony horsemanship 10 and under; Drew Wisecup, horsemanship 11 and under; Micki Brust, horsemanship 14; Jill Glick, horsemanship 15; Steve Murray, pole bending, barrels; Thorndike Barnhart, keyhole; Linda Walden, senior reining, hunt seat pleasure, egg and spoon, senior trail, hunt showmanship 14 and over, hunt seat equitation 14 and over, keyhole, showmanship 15, horsemanship 15; Beth Hovermale, hunt seat equitation 14 and under; Melissa Griffith, saddle seat showmanship, saddle seat equitation 14 and under; Cindy Woodruff, saddle seat equitation 15 and over, saddle seat pleasure.

Reserve champion high point went to Patricia Stiles and champion high point was won by Linda Walden.

Special mention was given to the State Fair representatives and alternates: pony representative, Connie Yaple; pony alternate, Cindy Gerhardt; English representative, Melissa Griffith; alternate, Cindy Woodruff; Western horse representatives were Patricia Stiles and Jill Glick; alternates were Carrie Teegardin and Linda Walden.

The speaker for the evening was Dr. Richard Kline. He is the new state horse specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service at Ohio State University. He explained his philosophy of the 4-H horse program and discussed possible changes in the State Fair horse show.

Studying Soils Can Help Farmers Increase Yields

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Many farmers have practiced tractor-seat evaluation of soils in their fields for years. This has given them a chance to observe the response of different soils to tillage and fertilization practices.

But farmers in the 1970's may need to become even more familiar with the soils on their farms, says Sam Bone, Extension Agronomist at The Ohio State University. The production of agronomic crops at high levels of efficiency begins with an evaluation of soils and soil properties, he explains.

Soil properties such as soil texture, soil drainage, subsoil pH, organic matter and available soil moisture should be terms that are as common in developing production programs as are the terms nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and lime. Information on soil properties can help a farmer shift production practices to obtain or maintain high yield response, comments Bone.

In many cases, information on soil properties is available from the cooperative soil survey program in Ohio. Since the program began in Ohio in the early 1950's, nearly two-thirds of the state has been involved in a detailed acre-by-acre study by soil scientists. Surveys are conducted by the Soil Conservation Service, USDA or the Division of Lands and Soils of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. In addition to field work by the soil scientists, laboratory data is available on soil properties to help identify and evaluate soil properties. This type of information is available from data by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Soil data are available in two types of reports in Ohio. These are either progress reports published by the Division of Lands and Soils, or a USDA Report published by the SCS. These reports are available and can be obtained in counties where the soil survey had been completed.

Soil drainage is the number one problem relating to effective crop production in Ohio. The lack of adequate drainage delays planting and prevents the selection of desirable tillage that takes less time to achieve and uses less energy. In addition nutrients such as nitrogen are not effectively used under wet conditions. Drainage problems may be surfaced, subsurface, or a combination of the two.

Soil texture is an important consideration as it relates to water management for crop production. It is more effective to plan for use of rainfall during the growing season than to consider irrigation if rainfall is short. Soil texture, particularly the medium-textured soil, presents problems of water loss during the growing season. This can be solved by selection of tillage and water management practices.

The fine-textured soils do not present problems of erosion and water management during the growing season; however, these may present problems of erosion during the winter and spring.

By giving careful consideration to each field, farmers can make wise decisions about field situations to overcome specific problems and maintain yield response at a high level. This can also help prevent increasing cost of production as it relates to the selection of tillage systems, Bone says.

Fall Is The Best Time To Test Soil For Needs

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Fall soil testing has the edge over spring testing on several counts. For one thing, farmers who test in the fall get the jump on those who wait until spring. The soil testing laboratory is always busier during spring months than in the fall, and a short delay at that time can mean the difference in getting lime and fertilizer (based on test results) applied or not applied. Fall testing gives the farm operator and the dealer time during the winter to work out the next season's fertility program.

Another advantage of fall testing is that fall purchase of fertilizers can save you money — and that's what the whole thing's about — squeezing out more profit through better management. Fertilizer manufacturers usually give fall and early winter fertilizer discounts, resulting from off-season storage costs.

Probably just as important, though, is the timing of lime applications. If your soil test indicates a need for lime, the fall and winter months are ideal for getting this material applied. In addition, phosphorus and potassium and even nitrogen, in some cases, can be applied during the fall.

It may be easier to test the soil in the fall, too, because the land is normally not as wet then as in the spring. Fall testing also aids the grower in remembering more vividly the particular problems and field conditions of the season just past. Thus, he can sample more accurately and take more time to collect the sample.

Tests have shown that samples taken in the fall are just as reliable as those taken in the spring. However, we must remember that test results and resulting fertilizer recommendations are only as good as the sampling technique. The sampling technique is likely to be more accurate if the sampler has more time and the field is in a good condition for sampling.

So, it boils down to fall testing for all-around best results — fertilizer grades and better prices available in fall, farm labor requirements at a low peak, field conditions usually better for testing, and with the fertility program already planned and materials applied, wet fields in the spring will not delay planting.

See George Hamrick, your County Agriculture Agent, right away for details on the soil testing program and sampling techniques. Soil probes are also available to use for soil sampling.

Aeration Maintains Grain Quality

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Aeration in your grain bin can save you money, says William Schnug, Extension Agriculture Engineer at The Ohio State University.

Grain quality is frequently lost during storage. High temperatures and moisture encourage the development of damaging fungi and bacteria, Schnug says.

Aeration moves a small volume of air through stored grain. This helps maintain uniformly low moistures and temperatures throughout the mass. Air movement severely hampers the growth rate of living microorganisms, and low temperatures reduce the activity level of grain insects and vermin.

Any grain with a moisture content greater than 12-13 per cent should be aerated if it is to be stored through the winter into late spring or summer. There are some differences in grain moisture and temperature when the bin is filled. The differences increase as the bin cools in late fall and early winter.

Grain cools from the outside, producing a warm core surrounded by a cooler shell. Warm air moves up in the bin until it reaches a point of grain and air temperature where it is cooled to its condensation or "dew point" temperature. The moisture condenses and the grain in that area is wetted and warmed.

Aeration cools the grain near outdoor temperature. In the process, any excess moisture is removed.

The standard airflow rate used in farm storage bins is 1-10 cubic foot per bushel of bin capacity. If a feeder wants to hold his corn at 17 to 18 per cent moisture for better feed processing, he should provide 1/4 cubic foot per minute per bushel.

In general, the aeration flow pattern should be down through the grain to exhaust outside the bin.

However, there are advantages to aerating grain while filling the bin. In this case, force air upward until the bin is full. Then reverse the fans for down flow aeration during storage.

Weather conditions determine how often and how long grain should be aerated. The idea is to minimize grain-air temperature differences. Hold grain temperatures within 10-15 degrees of mean daily outdoor air temperatures down to a grain temperature of about 40 to 45 degrees F.

Large continuous aeration systems are commonly controlled by thermostat-humidistat units to aerate whenever the outdoor temperature is below 50 degrees F. and the relative humidity is less than 70 per cent.

News For Homemakers

Homemakers are experimenting and seeking new ways to include more natural fiber in their menus. Nancy Green, a homemaker in Clinton County, whose husband grows wheat, makes her own whole wheat by grinding it in her blender. To do this, run a small amount of clean, untreated wheat through a blender for about two minutes. Sift, then re-blend the large pieces. This flour will make great pie crusts and breads, as well as add natural fiber and vitamins to the diet. It is recommended that any type of whole-grain flour be refrigerated or even frozen until use, because it will spoil more quickly.

I have several of Nancy's recipes for honey whole wheat bread, cookies, pancakes, nut bread and fruitcake. These will be included in the Christmas booklet to be distributed at the countywide homemakers meeting on December 1. The bazaar opens at 6 in the evening, and the program starts at 7:30. The public is invited.

If you are planning to use other grain products in baking, it is recommended that you use recipes developed especially for the flours, such as rye flour, buckwheat flour, corn flour, graham flour, soy flour, etc. These are heavier products containing more natural oils. In your regular wheat flour recipes, you can substitute two tablespoons per cup of these other flours without causing a baking failure.

Among the provisions of the Emergency Tax Reduction Act of 1975 just passed by Congress and signed by the President is a "goody" for home buyers. A 5-per cent tax credit — up to a maximum of $2,000 — is permitted on the cost of a new home purchased between March 13, 1975 and December 31, 1975. This applies to homes never before occupied that were built or under construction on March 25. The provision applies to condominiums as well. The law also requires that the home be the primary residence of the purchaser.

There is still another benefit home buyers receive under the law. The buyer is assured of receiving the lowest price at which the house has ever been offered for sale. To receive his tax credit — the purchaser must file certificate — furnished by the seller — that the home was sold at this lowest price. If the certification is false — the home buyer may recover three times the difference between the purchase price and the previously offered lower price.

A Page Of Opinion

Plumbing The Depths

The Senate Intelligence Committee's revelations of widespread assassination and kidnap plots against leaders in other nations is disturbing.

It is disturbing that the President of the United States even discussed such matters, even on a theoretical plane. It is disturbing that leading officials of the CIA could take such discussion and turn it into a command to be implemented.

But perhaps most disturbing of all is the fact that these men, supposedly intelligent human beings, could consider death for someone with no apparent moral feelings.

It is this attitude that makes it necessary for a complete rebuilding of the U. S. intelligence apparatus, including CIA, Defense Intelligence Agency and other groups who have gone beyond their mandate.

The nation must build a new intelligence system that does not rely on direct interference in other nations' affairs on the scale practiced heretofore.

My Ache Is Bigger

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK — I have a toothache, a mind-bungling ailment that besets all of us on occasion — usually on occasions like weekends, or the day our dentist is in Chicago attending a conference on toothaches.

I can't go home, because my editor has a backache and feels if she can out-spunk her spine, I can out-think my throbs. I can't commit suicide because I've scarcely begun my Christmas shopping. There is only one solution to the problem: dwell on the troubles of others and, in so doing, forget my own. Somebody — Norman Vincent Peale, perhaps? — said this works.

So consider, today, the plights of the following Americans who were sufficiently upset to write or wire their doctors . . .

A patient, writing to Dr. Louis Hermanson, Beth Israel Hospital of Boston:

"Dear Dr. Hermanson, Please send me the name of some good books on personal hygiene. I think I've got it. Sincerely, Pearl T."

To Dr. Martin E. Bloomfield, Lenox Hill Hospital, New York:

"Dear Dr. Bloomfield, I just wanted to let you know that my mother had another heart attack. She succumbed to it nicely and is now doing housework again. Oscar F."

Note to the Edlich Pharmacy, New York:

"Gentlemen: Over a shoulder in the subway I glimpsed a picture in a magazine of a handsome young man kissing a girl, captioned 'Haltosis.' Is this some new kind of perfume and where can I get it?"

To a school nurse:

"Lucinda is not in school as she is home with the itch and she can itch happier at home."

To Dr. William Hitzig, Park Avenue, Manhattan:

"Dear Dr. Hitzig, I read that you are the doctor who brought the Japanese girls for Dr. Barsky's plastics. Please tell him that I want plastic surgery done but I don't want it so well done that they don't recognize whom I am. I want them to know who it is who is looking so good. Adelaide I"

"Dear Dr. Tolamn (of Harvard Medical School): Since you prescribed a salt-free diet for me, is it bad for me to breathe deeply when I am at the beach? Mrs. Rosalie H."

Urgent to Dr. Howard Weinberger, Park Avenue, New York:

"Dear Doctor: When you phoned my office this morning you said my wife had a cute something or other. She certainly has, but what's the matter with her? Harry H."

"Dear Doctor, I know how busy you are so I want to apologize for being late again this morning for my appointment. But you will admit I have improved. This was the earliest I've been late yet. Karen J."

"Dear Dr. Reider, May I have an appointment to see you? My bowels are sluggish, my feet hurt, my heart jumps and you know, I myself don't feel so good either. Abe D."

"Dear Dr. Richun, Is there something wrong with my eyes? I'm trying to reduce and yet I seem to be gaining weight under each eye. Sincerely, Thelma H."

Dear Dr. Greeley, Please send me some of those pink pills to prevent people. Thank you. Isadora N."

All of the above letters, true and authentic, are lifted from a 1968 book by Juliet Lowell titled "Dear Doctor," and dedicated to the proposition that the life of a physician is phun!

I am deeply indebted to Ms. Lowell for filling my column in this emergency. Now if someone would only fill this tooth . . .

4th-Graders Offer Energy Suggestions

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Fourth grade students in this community where Marathon Oil Co. is located have ideas to solve the national energy dilemma.

"Change jobs so that everybody is working at the place closest to their homes," one recommends.

"Pull out all the kinks in the road so we don't have to drive so far," another said.

Others suggested:

"Put a plastic bag over the pipe in the back of the car and catch the stuff that comes out so it can be used again."

"Learn how to change water into oil."

"Keep a dog in the car that is trained to bark if the car goes faster than 50."

"Help around filling stations so they can have more time to go out and drill for oil."

And these bureaucratic answers: "Find out if oil has another name besides petroleum and look for it under that name."

"Everyone that visits a foreign country with a lot of oil, bring back a quart of oil with them."

Fire Hazards

Said Corrected

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Most of the 1,231 fire hazards found at Wright State University during a spring inspection have been corrected, according to the Fairborn Fire Department.

The remaining hazards will require a capital outlay which the university is seeking funds for, said Fire Chief Charles Rule.

Ninety-five per cent of the fire hazards found in 35 categories have been cleared. "The majority of the problems out there are simply maintenance, housekeeping problems," he said.

Among the problems cited were the failure to keep fire doors closed, poor location of fire hydrants and improper storage and security for chemicals and gas containers used in the school's science program.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Nov. 22, the 326th day of 1975. There are 39 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1963, President John Kennedy was assassinated as he rode in a motorcade in Dallas, Tex.

On this date —

In 1643, the French explorer, Robert de la Salle, was born.

In 1890, the late Charles de Gaulle was born in Lille, France.

In 1892, the Belgians suppressed an uprising by Arab slaveholders in the upper Congo.

In 1906, the S-O-S signal for ships in distress was adopted by an international convention in Berlin.

In 1941, in World War II, German forces captured the Soviet city of Rostov.

In 1943, a wartime conference was held in Cairo by President Franklin Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Ten years ago: Former Vice President Richard Nixon charged that President Lyndon Johnson had failed to take steps to win the war in Vietnam.

Five years ago: American jet bombers were carrying out massive raids in North Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

One year ago: The U.N. General Assembly gave the Palestine Liberation Organization observer status in United Nations affairs.

Today's birthdays: Actor Robert Vaughn is 43. Heiress Doris Duke is 63.

Thought for today: O, wind, if winter comes, can spring be far behind — Percy Shelley, English poet, 1792-1822.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Gen. George Washington ordered every company in his army to send an officer into the countryside to enlist soldiers.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given to all interested parties that a public hearing will be held Tuesday, December 16, 1975 at 8:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers, City Hall, Circleville, Ohio on a proposed rezoning request by Virginia B. Replogle for three tracts of land located on the West Side of Nicholas Drive at its intersection with Clark Drive to change the existing zoning from "R-2, One Family Residence District" to "AR-1, Multiple Family Residence District" and "AR-2, Apartment - Residence - Office District." Following is the report given by the Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission to City Council at their regular meeting held Tuesday, November 4, 1975, to wit:

After taking into consideration the comments received at the public hearing held by the Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission on Thursday, November 9, 1975, the comments offered by an informal residents' committee and a careful review of the application documents, the Commission is of the opinion that the proposed rezoning request should be modified so as to provide a more harmonious development in this area.

The Commission is of the opinion that the 12.73 acre proposed apartment-condominium site could not be developed without sufficient buffer on the north side to protect the existing residential area. After discussion with the owner's representative, it was decided that the area would be developed with single family condominium houses instead of the apartments. As such, it is the opinion of the Commission that a rezoning is unnecessary in that single family housing will be built on this site in conformance with the present zoning code.

The Commission is of the opinion that the proposed rezoning to "AR-1, Multiple Family Housing," for apartments on the south side of Hargis Creek is appropriate and compatible with the neighborhood. The area consists of 12.95 acres including right-of-way for public streets.

The Commission is of the opinion that the 4.71 acre site at the northwest and southwest intersections of Clark Drive and Nicholas Drive should not be rezoned to "AR-2, Apartment - Residence - Office District," at this time. It is the opinion of the Commission that this area might be suitable for rezoning at a later date with specific proposals to be presented for the proposed rezoning.

The remainder of the 83 acre site is to remain in its present zoning of "R-2, Single Family Residence District." Therefore, the Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission recommends that the Circleville City Council that the said tracts of land be rezoned as enumerated above.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Many people are not acquainted with the vast scientific contributions that are made by the medical departments of our Armed Services.

Their peacetime scientific research adds immeasurably to our health structure.

A portable blood pressure recorder was created by Lt. Col. William H. Walter of the United States Air Force. In cooperation with James E. Allred, an engineer at the Brooks Air Force Base in Texas, he is using this apparatus to monitor the blood pressure readings of patients.

The instrument, worn as a harness, indicates the blood pressure reading during all periods of activity. In this way, it can indicate the effectiveness of drugs used for patients with high blood pressure problems.

Another contribution was made by Lt. Col. Marion J. Stansell, a biochemist in the United States Air Force.

By a simple, inexpensive method his test can demonstrate the amount of fat in a person's body. Initially, this was aimed at determining a man's eligibility for flying duty. Marked obesity can limit that eligibility for a commission.

This new test, which may be used in the Air Force's standard physical examination, will undoubtedly be an important contribution to civilian health.

Important steps in the early education of patients afflicted with cerebral palsy can contribute greatly to their physical and emotional growth.

Dr. Hyman Soboloff, of the Greater New Orleans Cerebral Palsy Center and Professor at Tulane University, says:

"On the basis of what we've learned in working with CP children less than three years old, the earlier we start treatment and involve their parents, the better the children do."

As early as possible, mother-infant interactions are used in order to help in the muscular development of these children. The results are excellent when early treatment and rehabilitative programs are begun.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Seductive Sister 'Shocked'

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him "Bud") and I have been married for three years and were thinking about starting a family until this came up. (I'm 26 and Bud is 28).

Five months ago, my sister, who just got divorced, moved in with us until she could get herself together. She's 29 and the "beauty" of the family, but she's always after somebody's man.

Bud never paid any attention in front of me, so I wasn't worried. Then this terrible thing happened. Sis called me at work and told me Bud tried to rape her! I was so stunned I nearly fainted.

I got home as soon as possible, and all Bud could say was, "I thought that's what she wanted the way she always paraded around in a see-through nightgown." Sis said she didn't even own one, but I knew she was lying because I'd seen it when I did the laundry.

Sis said this was the second time he tried it, but she didn't tell me because she didn't want to make trouble.

Abby, explain the difference between "rape" and "molest." Sis told the family it was "rape," but Bud didn't tear her clothes off or even touch her. All he did was proposition her. Also, wasn't it partly her fault for enticing him? I still love my husband, but I don't trust him.

Whose fault was all this? Shouldn't my sis move? Answer soon.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: There was no rape involved. Apparently, your sister tantalized your husband and he propositioned her, and that's all there was to it. Yes, your sis should move. Buy her a flannel nightgown as a farewell present and get yourself a see-through nightie.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 38 years. My husband has been reading very dirty pocketbooks and magazines that dirty men he works with give him. He's been reading them for many years.

I have always claimed that this excessive arousal would make him impotent. He never believed me.

Now at age 60, he no longer gets aroused from these dirty pictures or even from me! He has gone completely impotent.

Please tell me, Abby, can a man become impotent from looking at too many dirty pictures over the years?

If he can, please write a whole column on it so men won't be so dumb.

CHIC. TRIB. READER

DEAR READER: It won't require a whole column to advise you that a man cannot become impotent from looking at too many "dirty" pictures. He may become bored with them, but impotent no way!

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Thinking about

Thanksgiving? If you are planning a holiday dinner, why not make it a true time of giving thanks and share it with someone who might otherwise be forgotten.

Is there an elderly person down the block who lives alone? Why not call the nursing home nearest you and ask them to select a resident who would enjoy Thanksgiving with a family. Then provide transportation.

I promise you, your own Thanksgiving will be enriched. And think of the joy you will be giving a lonely, elderly person!

Guerillas Hit Israeli Settlement

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Arab guerrillas from Syria attacked an Israeli settlement on the occupied Golan Heights and escaped after killing three 19-year-old army sergeants studying at a religious school, the Israeli military command reported today.

Another Bible student was wounded with a hatchet.

The Israeli military command said the raiders slipped through the United Nations buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian forces and told one of their victims they were fighters for Al Fatah, the Palestine guerrilla group headed by Yasser Arafat, the chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

But in Beirut, the Marxist Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility for the attack and said the guerrillas were "interior forces," from inside Israel.

First reports said the raiders wounded four students at Ramat Maghshim, a collective farm village. But three of the four were dead when a military helicopter brought them to a hospital in Haifa, hospital officials said.

The surviving wounded student said the guerrillas, armed with submachine guns, grenades and hatchets, "dragged me outside and started to club me with an axe. They were trying to take me with them to Syria, but I managed to get away."

The military command said the attack took place about 10 p.m. Thursday. The secretary of the settlement, Yitzhak Ness, said there were three raiders, and the Israeli state radio said they wore stockings over their faces.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has lots of things to worry about these days, but be reassured it has not overlooked its role as protector of the small investor.

The watchdog of federal securities laws and regulations has just come out with a new edition of "Investigate Before You Invest," a little booklet of basic advice that it is now offering free to investors.

"Before buying ... Think!" advises the SEC. "Don't listen to high-pressure sales talk," it adds. And, "Don't buy on tips and rumors."

If those caveats sound a bit dated for these days of supercautions if not necessarily more sophisticated investors, there's a reason: Much of the text was written years ago, and a new cover applied this year.

Nevertheless the SEC believes the warnings are worthwhile, just as they were in the 1960s, when millions of new and naive investors flocked into the stock market.

It's a bit different today. Brokers' phones don't ring all day long as they used to. Hundreds of them have gone out of business. Institutions often dominate trade, and the small investor more observant than active.

In fact, the number of investors has diminished, after increasing sharply throughout the 1960s and early 1970s. For the first time in more than 20 years, the New York Stock Exchange estimates, the number of shareholders fell in 1974, and maybe again this year.

Regardless, some of the advice seems to have a merit other than that of nostalgia. Any oldtimer will tell you that the same mistakes are made over and over, especially when people feel they no longer need advice.

With that preface, the SEC's admonitions:

—Before you decide whether to buy securities, check your financial situation. Have you made provisions for a home? Do you have adequate life insurance? A comfortable bank account balance?

—If you decide to go ahead and buy securities, keep in mind that the value of your investment can go down as well as up. No one can guarantee the market price of a security in a month or a year from now.

—Give at least as much consideration to buying securities as you would to buying other valuable property. An engraved stock certificate of a bankrupt company is just as impressive looking as that of a blue chip.

Reliable information is available on all heavily traded securities. Tell the salesperson to put all the information and advice in writing and mail it to you, and then save the information.

—If you're an average investor — the SEC offers no clues to the identity of average — don't speculate. Speculation sometimes may serve a useful purpose, but it is a field for experts. The amateur who "plays the market" is asking for trouble.

If you feel you are one of those who can benefit from a reminder of the basics, you may obtain a free copy of "Investigate Before You Invest" from: Consumer Information, Dept. 70, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Bethel Methodist Church Setting For Wedding Vows

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN A. TEMPLE

Bethel United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Bernice Jean Harper and Mr. Marvin A. Temple. The Rev. Maxine Krisher performed the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Harper, Route 2, Laurelville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Temple, Whisler, 1:30 p.m., Oct. 25.

The church was decorated with baskets of white football mums, bronze pompons, baby's breath, fern and palm leaves. Palms were placed behind the altar and a bouquet of flowers matching those in the baskets

Officers Elected By Union Guild

Union Guild elected officers for the coming year at its Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Wayne Fee, 613 E. mound St. Mrs. Ida Mitchell was assisting hostess. Mrs. Helen Newlon presided at the business session and Mrs. Fee led devotions reading from Psalm 67 and a Thanksgiving prayer. Roll call was answered by 15 members. Four guests, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, Mrs. Clara Delong, Mrs. Edna Immell and Travis Adkins, were introduced.

As a project for 1976 members were given names from a local rest home and they are to send these patients cards throughout the year on birthdays and other occasions.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas Party to be a carry-in dinner at noon in the home of Mrs. Mabel Bircher, 1460 N. Court St., on Dec. 16. Mystery sister names will be revealed.

The new officers are: Mrs. Magdalene Fee, president; Miss Mary Shortridge, vice-president; Mrs. Martha Krimmel, secretary; Mrs. Lucille Terry, assisting secretary; Mrs. Pauline Schooley, treasurer; Mrs. Evelyn Hoover, assisting treasurer.

The meeting was closed with the guild benediction. Refreshments were served and the remainder of the afternoon was spent making table favors for trays in rest homes.

Guild 20 Holds Thanksgiving Meet

Seventeen members of Berger Hospital Guild 20 attended a Thanksgiving dinner at Steele's Restaurant on Tuesday evening. Hostesses were Jean Thompson and Olive Hettinger. Favors of small white vases with miniature straw-flowers were given each one present. The doxology, led by Mary Hamilton, was sung by the group preceding the dinner.

Olive Hettinger, chairman, presided at the short business session. A report of the General Guild Bazaar, held Nov. 14th, was given. Mystery sister gifts were received by Annie Mowery, Mary Hamilton, Frances Rose, and Annabelle Mowery.

The annual Christmas gift exchange and party will be held Dec. 16, with Freda Hulse, Dot Justus, and Cressie Hall as hostesses.

Duvall Do-Alls Schedule Bazaar Christmas Party

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and the club collect opened the November meeting of Duvall Do-Alls Homemakers Extension Club at the home of Mrs. Doris Parsons, Route 1, Lockbourne.

Roll call was answered by 10 members giving helpful hints from grandma's day. Present were Barbara Kazez, Madge Baum, Eveline Zwayer, Marj Wilson, Burdell Coon, Virgie Vause, Betty Gutheil, Evelyn Johnson, Mae Ross and Doris Parsons, and two guests, Dorothy Green and Beverly Bechtel, Pickaway County Home Extension Agent.

Mrs. Bechtel presented the lesson on "Heritage Woman" and showed slides of accomplishments of women years ago.

The committee for the Christmas Bazaar reported the annual event will be held Dec. 1, at the Post Home of American Legion Unit 134, Route 23, south of Circleville. The ideas of having honor clubs and homemakers in the county was discussed.

The next regular meeting will be the Christmas Party on Dec. 9 when secret pals will be revealed. Treat baskets will be prepared for 10 senior citizens in the neighborhood. The session will be in the home of Marg Wilson, Gary St., Ashville.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

Mrs. Donald Frazier entertained members of Pickaway Plains LaSertoma Club recently at 110 S. Court St. For the program she demonstrated the proper use of cosmetics.

Final plans for a Christmas Party and Friendship Social to be held 8 p.m., Dec. 12, were made. All Pickaway Plains Sertomans and wives will be invited. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mabe will host the occasion in their home at 509 Plaza Drive.

Youth Service committee members of Pickaway Plains and Circleville LaSertoma Clubs will meet Nov. 20, in the home of Mrs. P. J. Ryal, 130 N. Scioto St., to select winner of the award for this year.

A board meeting will be held 7:30 p.m., Nov. 25, at the home of Mrs. Charles Carle, 94 Evergreen Ave.

Members present included Mrs. Tom Wolf, Mrs. Mike Griffith, Mrs. Brent Rhoades, Mrs. Bob Mabe, Mrs. Jim Mapes, Mrs. Larry Willard, Mrs. Paul Cox and Mrs. Charles Carle.

'Thankfulness' Program Topic For Circle Meet

Fifteen members and two guests attended the recent meeting of Circle 2 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Blanche Kerns, 177 Parklawn Drive. Guests were Mable Arledge, Patty Kirkwood, president of United Methodist Women, and Kay Slagle, who joined the circle.

Evelyn Dunkle opened the meeting with prayer and then turned the meeting over to Mary Bond, program leader. Mrs. Bond used the topic "A Thankful Heart Is A Committed Heart." She read a poem by Helen Steiner rice entitled "A Thankful Heart" followed with prayer by Frances Azbell.

Discussion was on the topics "What Are Commitments" and "What Are Vows?" Scripture was from Exodus 24:3-8 and Psalm 65 read by Polly Thomas. Members sang "Draw Me Nearer" and "Have Thine Own Way" and each presented her Thank Offering making an audible commitment to Christ. Mrs. Dunkle read the poem "Thank You God" by Richard C. Cabot.

It was agreed to give fruit baskets to shut-ins of the church. Gifts will be exchanged at the Dec. 8 meeting to be held at the home of Peggy Dean, 122 Seyfert Ave., with prayer partners revealed. Lists were distributed indicating what circle members will be in for the next two years.

Prayer requests were made, followed with silent prayer and repeating "The Lord's Prayer."

Refreshments were served buffet style by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Pickaway Senior Center Sponsors Big Bear Lunch

The Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church was decorated in a patriotic theme for the 3rd annual Big Bear Luncheon sponsored by Pickaway Senior Center, with the profit going into the Matching Funds savings account.

Mrs. Isabelle Badger, general chairman for the event, introduced Jerry Rasor of WLW-C TV, master of ceremonies for the day. Okie Boyer who will be 99 years old in February was recognized as the oldest person present. He was accompanied by his three daughters.

Following the luncheon, a short program was conducted by Mr. Rasor and Jane Stanfield, Big Bear representative. Miss Stanfield talked about the menu and products used. All the merchandise gifts on display were given to guests whose names were drawn from a box where all names were placed.

Receiving gifts were: Maude Heaton, Blanche Kerns, Okie Boyer, Gladys Hawks, Mary Wolfe, Helen Dixon, Justine Anderson, Bertha Brown, Mrs. Herbert Mevin, Charlotte Hill, Jennie Eccard, Margaret Ater, Ruth Hunt, Hazel Harvey and Eunice Shy. Audrey Goodman won the prize for the pricing contest.

In addition to Mrs. Badger, those helping were: Dorothy Smith, dining room chairman; assisted by Jennie

Church Women Schedule Events For Christmas

Plans for the Christmas holidays were completed during the recent meeting of Women of the Laurelville Church of God at the church.

Prayer requests were answered and the women were led in prayer by Shirley Moreno. For devotions Josephine Hardman read "Something To Think About" and Ruth Reid read "God And Your Only."

The organization will purchase Christmas gifts for patients at rest homes and before the holiday will visit patients and distribute the gifts.

The annual Christmas Bazaar and Tea has been planned for 1 p.m., Dec. 4, at the church. On Dec. 18, there will be a Christmas Party and carry-in supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Holbrook, Route 4, Circleville. Husbands will be guests.

Thelma Johnson led prayer to close the meeting and refreshments were served by Janice Hardman and Shirley Moreno.

Newcomers Club Earns Money For Christmas Party

Circleville Newcomers Club held a punch party and Christmas auction Wednesday at Pickaway Arms. Proceeds from the auction will be used for the annual Christmas Party.

Anyone who has recently moved to Circleville is eligible to join and may attend the meeting by contacting Sally Thomerson at 474-8929 for details.

Eccard, Margaret Ater, Mary Stein, Adella Huffman, Lucille Scott, Viola Strawser, Alton Stonerock and Connie Howell. Blanche Kerns was chairman of the kitchen helpers for Mrs. Stanfield. Others helping with the food preparation and serving were: Viola Hartranft, Pauline Pearce, Ruth Miranda, Ethel Hoover, Pauline Jones, Grace Streitenberger and Eloise Fee.

Table decorations were made at the Center under the supervision of Julia Lemon. All who had helped were recognized. Jenny Hoffman was singled out for special thanks for the many hours she had spent working on the centerpiece which were offered for sale after the program.

In addition to Big Bear, supplies for the luncheon were contributed by the following companies: Faygo, Glad Wrapp, Creamettes, Kahn's Meats, Borden's, Fisher Cheese, Lawry's Seasoned Salt, Swift and Company, Lucky Leaf, Buckeye Potato Chips, Stouffers, Marzetti's, Vlastics, Nestle's and P & R Sauce.

The Pickaway Senior Center is also participating in the continuing Big Bear cash register tape competition, saving cash register tapes from Big Bear stores, adding them up and turning in all accumulated tapes once every 4 months. One prize has already been won. Next turn in time is in January, 1976.

Flower Arranging Demonstrated For Homemakers Club

Rosemary Linn presented a demonstration on dried flower arranging for Pickaway Homemakers Extension Club at its Monday evening meeting in the home of Cindy Karsner, Route 3.

Judy Bartells will be co-ordinator for the arthritis program in the county. A meeting will be held Dec. 4 at the home of Dee Dawson, 830 N. Court St., to discuss the plans.

Bazaar items are to be submitted to the committee by Nov. 26. Announcement was made that the Christmas meeting will be held Dec. 1.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Kathleen Jenkins, Debbie Newell, Kay Slagle, Judy Julian, Freda MacFadden, Marie Pierce and Judy Bartells.

The next regular meeting will be held Dec. 15 at the home of Judy Julian, 225 Nicholas Drive.

Wedding Plans Are Announced

SHIRLEY SUE ELLEN BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brown, 135 E. Franklin St., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley Sue Ellen, and Thomas Allen Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wendell Short, Route 1, Kingdon.

Miss Brown is a junior at Circleville High School. Mr. Short attended Logan Elm High School and currently manages the Darbyville Auction.

The Rev. Alonzo Hill will officiate the ceremony on Nov. 29 at Pilgrim Holiness Church.

STUDENT TEACHER — A new face has been in the vo-ag department since Sept. 2. Bruce Bartsch came to Teays Valley to student teach under Ray Noecker. Bartsch is a graduate from Groveport Madison High School. He now lives in Whitehall and received a nutrition major in animal science from Ohio State University. Bruce finished his teaching Nov. 21 and says that it has been a good experience for him. "My students have been more conscientious and courteous than any other students that I've come in contact with at other schools."

'Medea' Drama Was 10 Weeks In Making

By TONY SIRIANO
"Medea" is the name and the subject of a play produced and directed by Charles Kearns and the TV Drama Club. The play was shown Nov. 14, 15, and 21 at 8:00 p.m. in the Teays Valley High School auditorium. "Medea" was ten weeks in the making.

Trese Nichols, who has appeared in three drama productions, starred as Medea a revengeful wife torn between love and anger. Jason, Medea's betraying husband, was played by Terry Smith.

The story is about Medea, a witch that was married to Jason, a hero whom she had magically saved five times. Jason left Medea to marry a young maiden, the daughter of the King of Corinth, Creon; in spite of all that he owed Medea. Creon banished Medea, fearing for his and his daughter's lives.

In a fit of anger, Medea planned to kill her two sons to air her supremacy and to hurt her husband. Afterward, acting as if she had come to her senses, she sent an accursed golden dress to Creon's daughter. This dress burned the girl and Creon to death. The play ends after the despairing Jason and the proud Medea have an all-out screaming battle. Medea later ended up leaving Jason and marrying Aegus, ruler of Athens.

Euripides of Greece wrote "Medea" and the first stage showing was produced in Athens in 431 B. C. The version done by the Drama Club was adapted by Robinson Jeffers, a noted American poet.

Jeffers' adaptation is done in a vague manner using abstract costumes with an abstract psychodelic setting. All actors in the play wore black leotards, usually with iridescent-colored cpees; their feet were unshod. Silver and black paints masked the players, with emphasis on Nichols' angered eyes.

The stage was composed of one wooden stand, a one-star covered floor, and a red-blotted sheet as backdrop. The audience was seated on stage in traditional Greek style.

Black lights, tinted and flashing strobe lights, spot lights, and darkness were used at different times to establish and strengthen the varying moods of the play.

Freshman President Featured

TAMMY WILEY

By PAM GRANT
Tammy Wiley, daughter of Roy and Dannette Wiley, is the freshman class president. Tammy is proud to be president; the reason is "I thought it would be exciting to find out what's going on with the school and my class."

Business classes, Spanish club, and band are a few of the many activities Tammy is involved in at Teays Valley.

Tammy is also the captain of the freshman cheerleading squad. She enjoys it because "its a lot of fun. You have to have spirit, and be active all the time. I also enjoy meeting people."

Tammy's plans after graduation are undecided but she wants to lead a happy life and have a very successful career.

Banquet Held Monday

By MIKE BRUST

Teays Valley High School held its annual fall sports banquet on Monday, November 17. The carry-in dinner began at 6:30. It was followed by the presentation of awards.

All fall athletic clubs were recognized. They were the freshman, reserve, and varsity cheerleaders, cross country, reserve and varsity girls' volleyball teams, golf team, and the freshman, reserve, and varsity football teams.

Special awards were presented to the varsity football players for excellent performance during the season. Senior Mike Wilson received the award for the most valuable player and best defensive lineman.

Craig Ramey, a junior, received the best offensive back title. Senior Ron Foreman received a new award this year. It was for outstanding performance during the homecoming game.

Basketball Season Gets Underway

BOB HOOVER

VIKING COACH

As the basketball season gets underway, the Vikings Coach is expecting great things. The 1975-76 team consists of five seniors and seven juniors.

They are lettermen Dave Schiff, Mark Messick, Rusty Rathburn, Jeff Cauer, and Rannie Wohnhas. Junior members are Tim Tosca, Terry Trego, Mike Johnson, Charlie Morrison, Greg Cline, Jeff Voss and Jeff Houser.

Our team will have to work extra hard considering a lack of height and the lack of varsity experience says Coach Bob Hoover. But the Vikes can prove themselves once again as we attempt to capture the Metro league title.

All Viking fans are prepared for victory as they open the season tonight at Logan Elm.

Library Gets New Equipment

By JILL HUSTON

The Teays Valley library has received new instructional materials to help teachers and students with the learning process.

The library, or media center as it is now known, is equipped with various means for the teachers to make their own audio-visual aids. The students, too, can make things to help them.

Some of the equipment is expensive, therefore, students are required to pay a small fee to use the materials. The new articles for use are filmstrips, slides, posters, transparencies, tapes, charts, and laminators. These new learning devices are for the use of any Teays Valley High School student or faculty member.

Class Studies Childhood First-Hand

By PAM BROWN

On Nov. 5, 6, and 7 the Teays Valley High School child-care class went to the Teays Valley Day Care Center. While there, the girls observed the different types of emotions a child has.

It was discovered by the class that young children's emotions consist of social, intellectual and physical reactions. The purpose of the trip was designed to give the students a better understanding of a child's emotions.

Those who participated in the observations are Theresa Bartholic, Kandy Blankenship, Pam Brown, Kathy Clifton, Scott Edwards, Linda Egbert, Glenna Ett, Dan Gray, Cindy Lockard, Melissa Plum, Shelly Richardson, Amy Stewart, Lori Stoops, Lori McClurg, Barb Lemaster and Brenda Cordell.

Chemist George A. Burrel, born in Cleveland in 1882, invented a gas detector and a device for analyzing gas. He received the Distinguished Service Medal for locating helium in Texas and was put in charge of the Army's program of producing this gas for balloons.

Notre Dame will be in the Orange Bowl tonight, but it won't be the real thing.

The harassed Fighting Irish, missing from The Associated Press' Top Twenty for the first time in 12 years as a result of last week's 34-20 loss to Pitt, wind up a disappointing season—7-3 going in—against the University of Miami, which claims the Orange Bowl as its home field.

Notre Dame's postseason bowl hopes—the Cotton Bowl was ready and willing but the Irish weren't able—vanished against Pitt, and Miami, despite a 2-6 record, could add to the frustration of Dan Devine's first year as Notre Dame's head coach.

"Miami is an excellent team and a very tough one," Devine says. "They've played nose-to-nose with some of the best teams in the country. We're going into another rattlesnake's nest."

Elsewhere, many of the remaining bowl berths were to be decided on the next-to-last weekend of the regular season. The schedule included three match-ups of Top Twenty teams.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., No. 1-ranked Ohio State and fourth-rated Michigan slugged it out for the Big Ten Conference championship, with the winner earning a trip to the Rose Bowl and the loser going to the Orange Bowl against the survivor of the Big Eight showdown at Norman, Okla., between second-ranked Nebraska and No. 7 Oklahoma. If Ohio State and Michigan played a tie, Michigan would go to the Rose Bowl, and Ohio State, which has been to the last three Rose Bowls, would go to the Orange.

Two bowl teams clashed in Pittsburgh, where 10th-ranked Penn State, headed for the Sugar Bowl against Alabama, met No. 17 and Sun Bowl-bound Pitt. Pitt's opponent would be the winner of the game between No. 18 Missouri and Kansas at Lawrence, Kan.

Meanwhile, ninth-ranked Colorado entertained Kansas State, Utah visited No. 11 Arizona for a night contest, Stanford hosted No. 13 California with the winner remaining in contention with UCLA for the Rose Bowl, Cincinnati was at No. 16 Miami of Ohio, Virginia at No. 19 Maryland and Texas Tech at No. 20 Arkansas.

Arizona had to win to set up a showdown against Arizona State next Saturday for the Western Athletic Conference crown and the host spot in the Fiesta Bowl. Maryland tried to nail down the Atlantic Coast Conference title by beating Virginia, while Arkansas needed a victory over Texas Tech to remain in contention for the Southwest Conference championship along with Texas A&M and Texas.

Seven members of the Top Twenty were idle—third-ranked Texas A&M, Alabama, No. 6 Texas, eighth-ranked Arizona State, No. 12 Florida, No. 14 UCLA and No. 15 Georgia.

In the Ivy League, Harvard and Yale had their annual shootout at New Haven, Conn. The ancient rivals were tied for first place.

A national television doubleheader via ABC-TV has Ohio State-Michigan followed by Penn State-Pitt. The latter game was moved from Pitt Stadium to Three Rivers Stadium because of the lighting system needed for the late afternoon start.

Other bowl teams in action include Colorado (Bluebonnet), Miami of Ohio (Tangerine), Maryland (Gator), West Virginia (Peach) at Syracuse. The only spot open is in the Tangerine Bowl, where contenders East Carolina, Arkansas State, South Carolina and Virginia Tech will all be in action today.

The rest of the Saturday night schedule finds VMI at East Carolina, Arkansas State at Louisiana Tech, McNeese State at Southwestern Louisiana, Louisiana State at Tulane, The Citadel at UT-Chattanooga, Furman at Wofford, Kent State at Toledo, Florida State at Houston, Pacific at Hawaii, Northern Illinois at Idaho, Long Beach State at San Diego State and Brigham Young at Texas-El Paso.

Cards To Face Grounded Jets

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Sometimes the best thing a head coach can do for his team is to leave...and that's what's got Don Coryell worried.

Coryell takes his high-flying St.

Louis Cardinals into New York Sunday to face the grounded Jets in a National Football League game. But New York has a new pilot at the controls in Ken Shipp. He replaced Charley Winner, fired on Wednesday.

When a coach gets fired, it sometimes serves to fire up the players, even if only temporarily. Therein lies Coryell's concern.

"There's been a real shakeup on the Jets," he says, "and anytime there's a shake-up like that, history shows the team always plays very well."

Well, not exactly. Last year, when Atlanta fired Norm Van Brocklin, Los Angeles smothered the Falcons 21-0 in Marion Campbell's debut. And when Joe Thomas took over for Howard Schnellenberger in Baltimore, the Colts were stampeded 42-3 by New England.

Granted, when New Orleans canned Coach John North three games ago, the Saints presented Ernie Hefferle with a 23-7 victory over Atlanta...but since then, they've been beaten badly twice.

Nevertheless, there is something to be said for intangibles. "The players and coaches are fighting for their jobs," Coryell notes. "It's a desperate situation for some of them. And with pro football being such an emotional game, we know we're in for a real battle."

Adds Cards' defensive line coach Jim Champion, "Sometimes, in the chaos of a thing like this, you'll see a team spring out and maybe win a game or two. And the Jets aren't all that bad."

They're sure on defense. The Jets have allowed more points and more yards than any team in the league. But offensively, they will have plenty of firepower, with quarterback Joe Namath, receivers Richard Caster, Jerome Barkum and Eddie Bell, and runners John Riggins, Emerson Boozer and Carl Garrett.

"Their offense is really awesome," Coryell says. "Namath is the best passer in football and, with the ability of the receivers like Caster, Bell and Barkum, they have a very explosive offense."

Champion adds that Namath "frightens you to death every time he gets the ball. With the receivers he has, every play is a potential touchdown."

In Sunday's other NFL games it's Oakland at Washington, Philadelphia at Dallas, Cincinnati at Cleveland, San Diego at Minnesota, New England at Buffalo, Baltimore at Miami, Chicago at Los Angeles, Denver at Atlanta, the New York Giants at Green Bay, Detroit at Kansas City and San Francisco at New Orleans. Monday night's game is Pittsburgh at Houston.

Cincinnati Moeller State AAA Champs

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Moeller Coach Gerry Faust gave credit to his defensive coaches, but a little prayer may have helped in Moeller's 14-12 victory over Lakewood St. Edward in the Class AAA high school football title game Friday night.

Faust said the defensive coaches worked all week "to stop St. Ed's running game," and their efforts paid off as the Lakewood runners were held to a total of 111 yards in the contest in Akron's Rubber Bowl.

Mustangs Nipped In SVC Preview

Westfall dropped a 31-27 decision to Southeastern, Bishop Flaget topped Adena, Huntington rolled over Piketon and Zane Trace nipped Piketon in the Scioto Valley Conference basketball preview Friday night at Southeastern.

Coach Mike Eckle's Mustangs led 16 after the first period but Southeastern came on in the second canto to cop the fray.

Coach Eckle used the contest to test his whole squad and had a variety of players in and out of the game in order to pick up experience.

John Schleich paced the Mustangs with six points, Mack Dick had five, Terry Hanson and Jeff Karshner each netted four, Eric Schleich hooped three while Bill Hamman, John Long and Kevin Reid each tallied two.

Westfall will open the regular season tonight when they host the Lakers of Millersport.

Mid State Preview Held

Bloom Carroll won over Logan Elm, 24-19, Friday in the Mid State League preview hosted by the Braves in Spangler Memorial gymnasium.

"I let everybody play," coach Asa Bradbury reported. "The first group did all right and were ahead when I took them out. The second group made a couple of mistakes and got down, but I kept them in there. The preview gave me another chance to look at everybody under game conditions."

In other preview games, Liberty Union won over Pickerington, Fairfield Union downed Millersport, Canal Winchester won over Berne Union and Amanda-Clearcreek won over Fisher Catholic.

"Fairfield Union looked really good," Bradbury said. The Falcons are pre season favorites along with Logan Elm in the Mid State League title chase.

Tonight Logan Elm officially opens its 1975-76 basketball season by hosting Teays Valley. Probable starters for the Braves are Chuck Cave and Jeff Reichelderfer at forwards, Mike Miller at center, Scott Allen at the point guard and Mark Skinner at wing guard. Randy Pontius and Steve Rawlins will be the first men off the bench for Bradbury.

"We expect a real good game from Teays Valley tonight. Bob Hoover (Viking coach) always comes up with an outstanding team even in a rebuilding situation," the LE cage mentor stated.

Nets Defeat Nuggets; Win 128-116

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rich Jones not only did everything possible on offense, he took care of David Thompson too.

That's what New York Nets Coach Kevin Loughery calls a night's work. "He played his best game since he became a Net," Loughery said Friday night after Jones led his team to a 128-116 American Basketball Association victory over the Denver Nuggets.

Jones, acquired from the San Antonio Spurs during the offseason, scored 21 points, handed out four assists, collected eight rebounds, blocked a shot and made a steal.

All that, and he held one of the best shooters in the ABA to just 14 points.

"I played him tough," Jones said of his superlative defensive job on Thompson, who had a 25.1 scoring average going into the game. "He's quick, but I used my experience on him, nudged him here and there, and tried to keep him from the free throw line. He gets inside there on a jumper and we're in trouble. He's a great shooter."

In the night's only other ABA game, the Virginia Squires thumped the Utah Stars 106-98.

Reynolds Cagers Defeat Orient

Reynolds Fabrication's cagers traveled to Orient State Institute and rolled to a 68-58 win behind the 18-point barrage and fine rebounding of Gary Disbennett.

Phil Salyers added 16, Jim Estep had 14, Tom Tootle and Terry Southern had 10. Southers, Ester, Tootle, Disbennett and Salyers all turned in fine defensive performances.

The team will meet again 7 p.m. Tuesday at Orient.

Tigers Impressive In SCOL Preview

The South Central Ohio League preview was held Friday night at Greenfield. Miami Trace beat Washington Court House 38-30, Madison Plains defeated Unioto 31-25, Hillsboro nipped Wilmington 27 to 23 and Circleville won over Greenfield 25-14. All games went two quarters.

Circleville, displaying much of their famous sticky man-to-man defense of a year ago, forced a taller Greenfield team to shoot from the outside. The Circleville squad used good teamwork and ball control together with quick feeds to the bucket to gain the win.

Circleville scored four quick buckets

Kansas City Blasts Bulls; Wins 107-98

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Even though the Chicago Bulls have lost eight games in a row, forward Bob Love is confident—not depressed.

"This is the longest losing streak I've ever had in my life, but we can laugh at it," said Love after Kansas City got 27 points from Nate Archibald and 23 rebounds from Sam Lacey in recording a 107-98 triumph over the Bulls Friday night.

"Nobody is tight. We can talk about it," he said. "It'd be a mistake to write us off. Each game we try to eliminate what we did wrong the last time. Tonight the forwards all played a good game—except me," he said.

Love scored 15 points but insisted, "I know I didn't do what I'm capable of doing."

Norm Van Lier played capably, contributing 27 points while Mickey Johnson added 24. But, for the eighth time in a row, it wasn't enough.

It's still no reason to panic, says Love. "I know we have a good team. We always hustle and never give up and we're capable of winning 12 or 13 in a row."

In the other National Basketball Association games, it was Boston 110, New York 101; Philadelphia 131, Portland 111; Detroit 104, Buffalo 94; Phoenix 107, Houston 92, and Los Angeles 116, Milwaukee 104.

F.D. Adios Winner In Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—F.D. Adios, after spending most of the race second to last, rushed down the stretch to win the feature at the Latonia Trots Friday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:06 2-5 and paid $6.80, $3.60 and $2.60. Naughty Willie returned $5.40 and $3.20. Sir Melody was the show horse at $3.60.

before Greenfield hit the scoreboard and was leading 11-4 when Greenfield called its second time out. The Red and Black never trailed, leading 15-6 at the end of the first period, and alternating buckets in the second frame before winning the game.

Circleville connected on 11 of 23 shots from the field for a 47.8 per cent average and hooped three of five from the charity stripe. Greenfield made six of 24 from the field for a 25 per cent average and two of three from the free throw line.

Circleville out-rebounded their opponents 13 to 12. Greenfield had nine turnovers, one more than Circleville.

Scoring for Circleville were Mike McCoy with six points, Biff Bumgarner, George Moore and Rusty Holbrook with four, Frank Merrill had three, Jeff Williams and Brian Fath each scored two.

Greenfield had balanced scoring with seven players earning points.

Miami Trace, bolstered by the addition of the Panther 74-75 reserve champs used a tight man-to-man defense, and balanced scoring to overcome a full court press of a Washington Court House team that includes two top ten league scorers from last year, Chuck Byrd and Doug Phillips.

Madison Plains and Unioto played a very even game from the field, both scoring eleven buckets in nearly equal opportunities. The difference in score came from the free throw line where the Eagles outscored Unioto 9-3.

Hillsboro and Wilmington had trouble hitting the hoop with a combined total of 17 of 73 field goal attempts and sixteen of 33 free throws.

Circleville will open the regular season Tuesday night when they host Unioto.

Muskegon, Port Huron Win Hockey Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muskegon's Rick Molinaro and Port Huron's Len Fontaine each scored last period goals to break open ties and give their respective teams victories in International Hockey League action Friday night.

Molinaro scored his winning goal with just 2:18 remaining in the game as the Mohawks defeated Toledo 2-1.

Muskegon was assessed a two-minute penalty at 18:41 in the final period and Toledo pulled its goaltender for a two-man advantage but failed to score before the time ran out.

Elks Plan Shoot

The Circleville BPO Elks are sponsoring a trap shoot beginning 1 p.m. Sunday at the Elsea Trailer Sales lot on Route 23.

There will be both card and trap shoots.

Reds Generous With Winnings

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, whose stingy ways on the field helped win a World Series, may lead the major leagues in generosity when it comes to sharing the spoils.

The players cut up the World Series winnings like they were doling out autographs.

For instance:

—Reliever Tom Hall, who appeared in only two games and was traded one week into the season, was voted $750.

—Reserve catcher Don Werner, who was called up at the end of the season and had only one hit in eight at-bats, was awarded $500.

—John Vukovich, who departed in a huff after a sixweek tryout at third base and was later traded, has a check in the mail for $1,000. He appeared in 31 games, hitting .211 with an 8-for-38 effort.

—Clubhouse boys Scott Teepe, 18, and Jeff Schachleiter, 17, received $4,765.11 each for cleaning up after the world champions.

"We weren't shooting for any record," said player representative Darrel Chaney, "but the longer we voted, the more generous we got."

Before the meeting ended, the Reds agreed to donate $3,000 to a local children's fund.

"The consensus seemed to be: let's do something different. We wanted to do something for Cincinnati because of its tremendous support," Chaney said.

Before they were through, the 25 players split the booty 52 ways.

"I think it tells you something about the Reds," says Chaney. "Money doesn't mean that much to us. Winning does. All season long, money was the last thing in our minds. Since losing the 1970 and 1972 World Series, winning has come first and money second." Each of the Reds received $19,060.45, the fourth largest payoff in history.

"We didn't look at it on the basis of what guys did while they were with us or how long they were with us," said Chaney. "In Tom Hall's case, he had been with us for three years and we felt we owed him something."

The windfall left the two clubhouse boys incredulous. "I knew we were getting something," said Teepe, "but I never imagined $4,700."

He and Schachleiter work for approximately $2.00 an hour during the six-month season.

In 1940, when the Reds won their last World Series, the players received winnings of $5,800.

"I guess that says something about economy," said Schachleiter.

"I'd work for nothing," he added. "It isn't the money that matters. I just enjoy being a part of the Cincinnati Reds."

Schachleiter celebrated the occasion by purchasing his first car. The rest of the money will go toward putting him through police school "if I can't get a job with some pro team as an equipment manager," he said.

"A couple years ago," recalls Chaney, "one of the clubhouse boys went through college on the $7,000 in shares he received from the 1970 and 1972 World Series."

"I guess it's our way of saying that we appreciate what all the guys do who work behind the scenes for us," said Chaney.

When Honorable Miss won the Fall Highweight Handicap at Belmont Park it marked trainer Frank Whiteley's eighth New York stakes victory of 1975.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Personal relationships governed by beneficent influences. A day in which you can successfully combine business and pleasure.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Group activity highly favored. Stars indicate this is the time for you to make some exciting new contacts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Wide horizons are your dimension. But don't do as the Geminian so often does — begin with brilliance, then lose interest. Masterful strokes can be yours now, if you'll just stick with your projects.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be careful of your approaches. Others may read more into your words than you intend.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A pleasant surprise indicated — possibly the settlement of a long-standing obligation. Travel and outdoor interests also favored.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Independence of thought and action should be stressed now. But don't arbitrarily reject unusual ideas. A fresh viewpoint could give your efforts better direction.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your intuition and unusually good judgment will be a boon in the tight spots now. Give special care to family obligations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You may have to make some concessions in a family matter, but the end results will be very worthwhile. Expect some good news in the p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): False statements could mislead but, under day's capital influences, you should be able to discriminate well. Just be alert.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A day for some reevaluation. Dress up an old idea, give an inert interest new life, investigate new avenues to progress. Projects close to your heart can be furthered notably with the right push.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some situations await your incisiveness and knack for managing people. You may have to do some persuading, but you are good at this.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You may find it difficult to get things done in the way you prefer. Also, you may run into unexpected snags. Take all in stride and avoid argument. Things will right themselves.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an unusual executive ability, and have a penchant for introducing the unusual to add novelty and increase public interest in a product or endeavor. Highly principled yourself, you bring out the best in others, and your logic and reasoning powers are respected by all. You are energetic; endowed with a quick wit, a ready smile and tremendous courage. Many professions are open to you, but you could especially shine in the law or journalism. In the former case, you would almost inevitably wind up as a jurist, diplomat or statesman. Birthdate of: Franklin Pierce, 14th Pres., U.S.A. regular juvenile judge, Guy G. Cline. Ammer placed five dependent children in the temporary care of their older brother.

A 15-year-old Circleville girl charged with school truancy was placed on one year's probation for the offense. The court stipulated that she shall not be absent from school without a valid reason.

Gerald H. Welsh Jr., 16, Route 3, appeared on an affidavit filed by the State Highway Patrol charging him with speeding. Welsh was given a $10 suspended for one month. His driving privileges were restored to drive to and from school, work and to do farm work.

Also appearing on a speeding charge was Lawrence Swank, 16, Route 3, Orient. His case had been transferred to the local court from Franklin County. He too, received a $10 suspended fine and had his license suspended for one month. The court also modified this suspension order to allow Swank to drive to work, school and traffic school.

Another traffic case heard by Judge Ammer was a speeding charge against Royce E. Wiley, 16, Ashville. He was ordered to pay $7.50 of a $15 fine and had his license suspended for one month. The court restored his driving privileges to drive to school, band activities and farm work.

Ruby and Omar Norris, Route 3, Mt. Sterling were each fined $10 for contributing to the unruliness of a minor. The court suspended both fines.

In final action during the week, the court found a 14-year-old Route 1, Williamsport girl to be dependent and placed her in a private home for the remainder of the school year.

Senior Center Activities

430 LANCASTER PIKE, 474-4916

Sunday: 4 p.m. On Aging program Channel 34 WOSU TV. Repeat

Monday: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Work on carpet plaques which is a new craft program at the Center. Pieces of carpeting, at least 12 by 18" can be used, felt scraps and linoleum knives would be useful. Noon: Sack lunch. Beverages provided. 1:30 p.m. Ceramics class at Bev's Studio corner Franklin and Mound. Bev gives free lessons and special prices on greenware and firing to our members only, and only on Monday afternoons. New class members are always welcome. Only greenware purchased at the studio by members of the class will be fired at the reduced prices. 7 p.m. On Aging program Channel 34, WOSU TV. New segment. 1:30 p.m. Kitchen Band rehearsal at the Center.

Tuesday: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Work on Crafts. Noon: Sack lunch, beverages provided. 8 p.m. Euchre Party at L-K Restaurant. Public invited. Free refreshments. Cash prizes.

Thursday: Thanksgiving Day. Center closed. Friday: Center will be closed also as staff members are taking this as a legal holiday in place of Columbus Day which was a work day at the Center.

Note: All Senior Citizens are invited and urged to attend the Public Hearing to be held Nov. 24 in the Common Pleas Court room at the Court House. This Hearing is being conducted by the County Commissioners on the applications for Community Block Grant Funds for use in Pickaway County and since a new Center for Pickaway County Senior Citizens is being considered a good representation of our members at the hearing would be helpful. If you want to come but don't have transportation, call Monday 474-4916.

Shopping trip to Eastland scheduled Dec. 2 leaving at 9 a.m. Members and non-members may make reservations by calling the Center. Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. the Elks Singers will entertain our members and their guests at the Lutheran Parish House. Refreshments will be served after the concert and cards may be played until 10:30 p.m.

Dec. 5 Garage and Bake sale at the Center. Bring garage sale items to the Center anytime. Baked goods either the day before or that day. Need some volunteers on day of sale. Call 474-4916.

Representatives To Marry; Had Worked On Same Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Martha Elizabeth Keys and Andrew Jacobs Jr. are proving that their committee assignment is the ways and means to romance.

Jacobs, a Democrat from Indianapolis, and Mrs. Keys, a Democrat from Manhattan, Kan., announced Thursday their plans to marry in January, making them the first husband-and-wife set of House members to serve at the same time.

They are known on the floor of the House of Representatives as "the gentle lady from Kansas" and "the gentleman from Indiana." They will also be known soon as Mr. and Mrs.

They are planning a "small, personal" ceremony in Topeka, Kan. She will keep her present name and they will both keep their present legal addresses, thus giving them three residences including their dwelling here.

Both Jacobs, 43, and Mrs. Keys, 45, are members of the House Ways and Means Committee that has held long sessions this year on complicated tax issues. Mrs. Keys noted that those sessions have their by-products. "I would have to say that any couple who can marry after serving through hours of the intricacies of tax legislation on that committee already has achieved a significant milestone," she said.

Jacobs, who is serving his fifth term in the House, said: "This is the ultimate test of whether two can live with the same deductions as one." His career was interrupted in 1972 for two years when he lost a reelection try.

Mrs. Keys said the real problem will be "equal time" for their work and themselves, since both will be campaigning. She said she spends "a lot of time in my district" which consists of 15 counties in northeastern Kansas. "Time is the hardest thing to get in the kind of life we lead," she said.

Both said they intend to run for reelection next year. Jacobs said their home districts are located on the same airline route so they would be able to travel to and from Washington together at least part of the way. They also have their offices in the same building in Washington, though three floors apart.

He was divorced from the daughter of a former Indiana governor in 1968. Mrs. Keys, a freshman, was divorced in July from Dr. Samuel Keys, dean of education at Kansas State University. Her two daughters, aged 19 and 25, work here and she and Keys share custody of a 14-year-old son.

Her sister, Lee, is the wife of Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo.

Accord On MIAs Sought By Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a special House committee are preparing to begin talks with Vietnamese officials in hopes of learning the fate of Americans listed as missing in action in Indochina.

None of the congressmen scheduled to participate in the talks, which are to begin Monday in Paris, is touting the conference as a diplomatic triumph. But panel members say they hope the discussions will lead to resolution of the MIA issue.

The congressmen, under the auspices of the House Special Committee on the Missing in Action, are to meet with the charges d'affaires of the north and South Vietnamese governments at Hanoi's embassy.

In making the announcement Friday, the panel's chairman, Rep. G. V. Montgomery, D-Miss., described the talks as informal, unofficial and preliminary. He said he feels that any substantive overture from the Vietnamese would have to be relayed to the State Department for diplomatic followup.

If Monday's talks prove fruitful, Montgomery said, they probably would continue on Tuesday.

Two Hurt In One-Car Accident

A Columbus man was admitted to the hospital for injuries he sustained in a single-car accident, 1:15 a.m. today on County Road 501.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon, Charles R. Messer, 35, Columbus, was traveling northeast on Route 62 and in the process of passing another vehicle when the accident occurred.

Messer swerved off Route 62 in an attempt to make a left turn onto 501 when he lost control of the truck-camper.

The vehicle veered back and forth across the road before finally striking and uprooting a tree and coming to rest against another tree.

A passenger, Luckie W. Webb, 25, Sedalia, was treated and released for lacerations and abrasions.

Deputy Dixon cited Messer for reckless operation.

Thieves Get Cool $65

Thieves broke into The Game Machine, Lancaster Pike, to take cash from the business, co-owner Robert Ash told Circleville Police.

Entry was gained to the back room, investigating officers discovered. The cash, $65 in single dollar bills, was kept in a refrigerator.

Charles Buskirk, 620 Elm Ave., told police that vandals broke the drivers side door glass of his car, which was parked in his back yard.

Value of the glass is $40.

Special Waltons Program Set For Thanksgiving

A special two-hour broadcast of "The Waltons" will bring into dramatic focus the extraordinary dimensions of this remarkable family when it is presented on the CBS television network station, Channel 10, Thanksgiving night, Nov. 27, at 8 p.m.

This holiday telecast of the regularly scheduled series is being sponsored by the Citizens Bank of Ashville through its membership in the American Bankers Association (ABA).

This Thanksgiving special is one of several telecasts that will be sponsored by the ABA. In February the fifth in a series of telecasts on the life of Abraham Lincoln will be seen on NBC, Channel 4 and Feb. 3-15 the ABA will sponsor the Winter Olympics games being held in Innsbruck, Austria.

"We are not going with any preconceived ideas or set objectives to be achieved at this time," Montgomery said.

In preceding months members of the committee had written representatives of the governments seeking a meeting on MIA questions.

In hearings, the committee heard from several Americans who had been captured last March in Ban Me Thuot during the rout of the South Vietnamese army that preceded the fall of Saigon.

These Americans said they were convinced that they were released on Oct. 30 as a gesture by Hanoi. They said the Vietnamese officials they had seen all indicated they wanted talks with the United States.

Montgomery and the panel had a breakfast meeting last week with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and came away saying that the secretary saw no major obstacles in the way of establishing normal relations with Hanoi.

On Thursday, Montgomery heard from private sources, which he declined to name, that the Vietnamese were ready to talk. On Thursday night a cable arrived setting the time and place.

While serving as a diplomatic conduit, the committee specifically would want Vietnamese cooperation for a final, definitive accounting of the missing, to include:

—On-site investigation of aircraft crash sites.

—Responses to previous inquiries — about 100 in all — on the fate of Americans thought to be captured alive.

—Repatriation of the remains of the American dead.

Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., a member of the committee, saw the trip "as a real breakthrough with promise of closing the last chapter of the Vietnamese War."

Ottinger said he thought the Vietnamese would want to establish normal relations with the United States to lessen their reliance on the Chinese and Soviets.

O-I Supervisor Completes Course

David R. Buckel of 508 Nicholas Dr., Circleville, accounting supervisor, Owens-Illinois, Inc., completed the Unit I course Friday in Wittenberg University's Management Development Program.

The series of five-day on-campus courses are designed to strengthen the management competency and provide new insights into the management functions of supervisory personnel in industry.

The courses concentrate in four areas — behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations.

During the past 24 years more than 900 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 16,000 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management program.
